Forward

The Organic Wine Show is dedicated to the judging and promotion of certified organic wines from Australia and New Zealand.

Held alongside the 2008 Organic Expo, it showcased the diversity, regionality, originality and quality of organic wines.

The show is aimed at helping the organic wine sector carve a larger niche for itself in the shelves of the wine trade, and in the knowledge base of wine connoisseurs.

The show attracted 31 certified and in-conversion organic and bio-dynamic vineyards entering a total of 101 wines.

The Gil Wahlquist Trophy
sponsored by Palm Beach Wine Co.

Awarded to Best Wine in Show

Random Valley Organic Wines 2007 Shiraz

Gil Wahlquist planted the first organic vines in Australia in 1971, which then went on to become the first certified organic vineyard in 1984. Gil retired from wine making in 1996.

Gil was a pioneer of organic wine production in Australia and has shared his knowledge and passion for the industry with many along the way. Gil was honoured to accept the naming of the Australia / New Zealand Organic Wine Show trophy after himself in recognition of the great contribution he has made to the organic wine industry.

The Gil Wahlquist trophy will be awarded each year to the best wine in show.

Best Wine in Show Prize – sponsored by Organic Crop Protectants (OCP)

$1,000 of premium organic fertilisers and soil conditioners

This fantastic prize for the Best Wine in Show has again been kindly donated by Gary Leeson of Organic Crop Protectants.

Organic Crop Protectants have been operating in Australia since 1990 and are a leading manufacturer and distributor of Biological Farmers of Australia (BFA) Registered Organic Crop Protection and Nutrition products. They have a strong focus on Research and Development and rigorously test products for consistency, safety and efficacy on an ongoing basis. This is supported on the ground by qualified agronomic advice from staff who have had years of experience in Australian Agriculture.

OCP see the growth of organic food production in Australia as a key to the continuing prosperity of Australian Agriculture as a true supplier of "Clean & Green" produce. They aim to be a part of the growth of this industry by providing the highest possible service to our customers while supplying them with quality products that deliver results at the right price. The recent APVMA registration of EcoCarb for the control of Powdery mildew and suppression of Downy mildew in grapevines is indicative of their commitment to the organic industry.

Judges

Max Allen – Chief Judge: Australia’s most widely-published wine writer. Wine columnist for The Weekend Australian Magazine, wine editor for Australian Gourmet Traveller magazine and wine reviewer for G, Australia’s first green lifestyle magazine. Max has written many books on wine and has been a regular judge at various Australian wine competitions; he is also Chief Judge at the innovative Australian Alternative Varieties Wine Show in Mildura. His online guide to biodynamics in Australian vineyards is www.redwhiteandgreen.com.au

Jon Osbeiston – John has been in the wine industry for 25 years, retailing, wholesaling and importing with a speciality of personally selecting and importing fine French wines. Jon has been the proprietor of the Ultimo Wine Centre for 15 years and on many judging panels including; Choice Magazine, NSW Wine Show, NSW Wine Awards, Australian Alternative Varieties Wine Show and the Australia / New Zealand Organic Wine Show.

Damien Stevens - Damien joined the Hunter Valley wine industry in 2003 with First Creek, the areas biggest contract facility. Since then he has worked at Peppertree Wines, Tempus Two, Wandin Valley Estate and held vintage positions at the renowned Cloudy Bay and De Concillious a biodynamic producer in Italys south west. Damien has previously judged at the Hunter Valley Wine Show, NSW Wine Awards and is currently the Assistant Winemaker at Margan Family Winegrowers under vigneron Andrew Margan.

P-J Charteris - A New Zealander who has successfully infiltrated the Australia wine industry on all levels with winemaking experience in South Australia, Victoria and New South Wales as well as France, USA and New Zealand. P-J has been involved in wine show judging for 15 years at both capital city wine shows and on a regional level. Currently making wine for Brokenwood Wines in the Hunter Valley NSW while designing and building a sustainable and energy neutral house in the Brokenback Range above Pokolbin. When not making or drinking wine P-J is either fishing or surfing or sometimes all of the above.

Kim Bickley - Began her career in Hospitality over fifteen years ago and has had a passion for wine ever since. Working as a sommelier for the last 6 years and as Head Sommelier at Glass Brasserie and Wine Bar for more than a year. Kim joined glass upon the re-opening of Hilton in 2005 and for two years worked in unison with renowned Sommelier, John Clancy, to develop what she hopes is considered one of the best wine collections in Sydney. Her enthusiasm for organic and in particular bio-dynamic wines was sparked by a visit to the winery and vineyards of Dr Bürklin wolf in German wine region, Pfaltz, these wines, from the entry level to the Grand Cru, are something special and have a complexity and intensity that is phenomenal. Kim believes there is really something in Biodynamic practices, simply because you can taste the results in the wines and you can see the health of the environment around these biodynamic vineyards.

Judges Comments

REFLECTIONS ON THIS YEAR'S WINE SHOW JUDGING

By chief judge, Max Allen

Despite attracting fewer entries than last year (due to stricter entry requirements, ensuring that all stages of production, from vineyard to winery to bottling are certified organic), we still managed to sniff, swirl and slurp our way through 100 glasses, making the Australian and New Zealand Organic Wine Show still the biggest comparative tasting of certified and in-conversion organic and biodynamic wines in the country.

Although overall numbers were down, a few new producers did decide to enter with the show, which is great: it's always encouraging to come across yet more vineyards converting to truly sustainable viticultural practices. This year's winners reflect the full spectrum of organic producers, too, from the new and very obscure – vineyards producing only a few dozen cases of each wine - to the established and well-known – large wineries producing many thousands of cases a year; from ultra-premium wines costing $50 or more a bottle to bargain quaffing wines costing closer to $10.

The rieslings were a strong group this year – the sauvignon blancs less impressive. Chardonnays were solid with a couple of standouts (Millton and Thistle Hill). But the most excitement came with the 'other white' varieties: The Millton Vineyard's gorgeous, honeyed 2007 chenin blanc fully deserving its gold medal. The pink wines were disappointing, pinot noir yielded a couple of nice wines, and the best reds were to be found among the cabernets and shirazes.

Margaret River's Random Valley vineyard was clearly the standout estate this year, with all four entries going home with medals: the trophies for Best Red Wine and Wine of Show went to Random Valley's intense, vibrant 2007 Shiraz, a gold medal went to the 2007 Cabernet Sauvignon, and bronzes to the 2006 vintages of the same two varietals.

The Best White Trophy went to the complex, textural 2007 Yalumba Organic Viognier, which is a steal at $14 a bottle and resounding proof that organic and biodynamic viticulture can be practised on a large, commercial scale. And the Best Preservative Free Wine award went to the plummy, lively 2007 Wildstone Merlot from the up-and-coming Fergusson Valley, near Bunbury in WA – showing, like last year's winner of the same award, the Settlers Ridge sangiovese, that it is possible to make delicious wines without using preservatives.

Thank You

Smeaton Hackett Events, organisers of the Australia / New Zealand Organic Wine Show, would like to thank all those involved in making this fourth show a success.

Our particular thanks go to our Chief Judge Max Allen and his fellow judges who gave their time freely for the benefit of the organic wine industry.

We would also like to express our thanks to Palm Beach Wine Co. who sponsored the trophy, Organic Crop Protectants who donated the prize, and to all others who have given their assistance and support.

Finally, we would like to give our heartfelt thanks to all the vineyards that entered the Show and made it possible. We look forward to your continued support and growing the show into a well respected and recognised assessment of the Australian and New Zealand organic wine industry.

We look forward to your participation again next year.
